

[SYSTEMS AND METHODS FOR INTERNET COMMUNICATION OF PARKING LOT INFORMATION]

Abstract

A parking system includes an Internet-accessible server storing substantially real-time parking data for one or more parking lots. The parking data can be rendered by a display device running a browser application. The server can display parking information in response to requests from one or more subscribers